

Beyond Assessment: Building an E-portfolio for Orientation, Community and Reflection

Jen Ross and Hamish Macleod
University of Edinburgh

Management of Training and Development programme at the University of Edinburgh

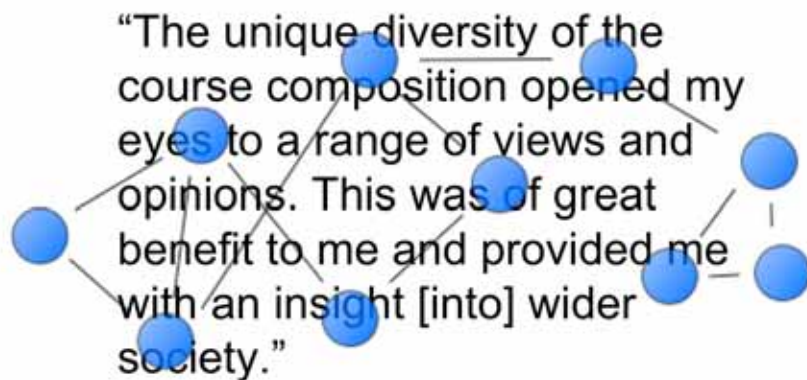

orientation

"I'd like to know I can see the members who will study the same course with me. I want to know who will be my friends as well as their profile. I expect that there are some community which come together on-line."

- prospective MTD student, 2006/07

community

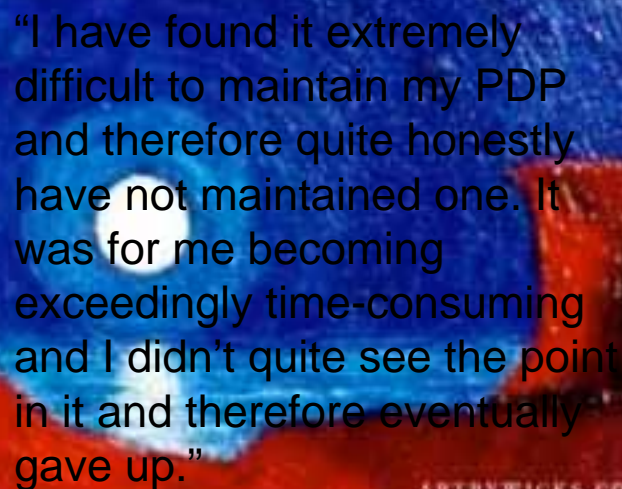

“The unique diversity of the course composition opened my eyes to a range of views and opinions. This was of great benefit to me and provided me with an insight [into] wider society.”

- MTD student, 2005/06

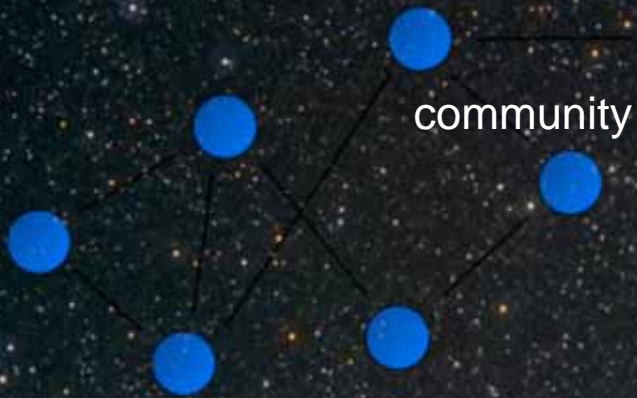

reflection

“I have found it extremely difficult to maintain my PDP and therefore quite honestly have not maintained one. It was for me becoming exceedingly time-consuming and I didn't quite see the point in it and therefore eventually gave up.”

- MTD student, 2005/06
